Exciting News Ahead!

Dear Valued Customers and Friends,

It fills me with great joy and anticipation to share some significant developments on the horizon for Vomax Instrumentation.

Following the passing of my father, Richard Kelly (June 2023), our family followed his premeditated wishes to sell our family business. We are delighted to announce that Samuel Jackson, Inc. (SJI) has successfully carried out those wishes by acquiring the business. SJI is a fourth-generation family enterprise, based in Lubbock, Texas, with whom we've enjoyed a fruitful relationship for the past 25 years and whom shares our commitment to excellence. Richard cherished the warm rapport he shared with Samuel Jackson's technical team in the realm of cotton processing and often spoke fondly of the memories shared. The desire to sell to Sam Jackson stemmed from three pivotal factors. Firstly, a shared focus on product design and research. Secondly, a deep-seated desire to entrust Vomax and the innovative Gazeeka products to a passionate and forward-thinking family who wholeheartedly value the microwave technology Richard dedicated his life to developing. Thirdly, a company that is dedicated to agriculture and enriching the lives of farmers across the globe.

I am thrilled to announce that I will continue to oversee Vomax/Gazeeka operations as an employee of Samuel Jackson at our new headquarters in Lubbock, Texas. Our cherished Australian supply chain relationships, crucial to the creation and development of Gazeeka products, remain intact and highly esteemed, as they were under Richard's stewardship. What will undergo changes are our product distribution and support channels. The exclusive Gazeeka distributorship for the United States will be discontinued, and we are actively working on establishing a highly capable sales, manufacturing, and support network for our Australian customers, with details to be unveiled soon.

The finalisation of this business transition is scheduled for the end of this month. In anticipation of this, we have ramped up our inventory levels over recent months to ensure seamless continuity and to meet demand during this transition period. Any minor inconveniences that may arise during this time will undoubtedly be surpassed by the enhanced resources now available to Vomax/Gazeeka, dedicated to serving you, our esteemed customers and friends. I extend my heartfelt gratitude for your patience and understanding as we navigate through this transition.

I am immensely thankful for all the cherished memories and unwavering support we've received. We are privileged to be part of such an extraordinary industry, and I am profoundly grateful for that.

This is just the beginning of an exciting new chapter.

Warm regards,

Angus Kelly
Director of Gazeeka Sales
